

Reviving the colours of autumn

In the transition to ready oneself to enjoy the sweet embrace of winter, to be enveloped by the gentle cosiness of the frost, amidst comes a tranquil tenderness of autumn. Similar to a phoenix, nature's resonance departs only to be reborn again. To rise from the ashes and be reawakened, this is the time to rediscover the true essence of autumn and bring the inspiration to the interiors of your home.

THE BLUE HUES

While one can always go to the traditional colour palette of autumn colours such as divine yellow, light orange, red dynasty or even southern oak, a little experimentation would be a pleasant change from the monotony. When talked about this season's blues, colours such as midnight blue, indigo and sapphire blue are perfect for this autumn. Besides introducing a bold pop of colour, these tints also add a sentiment of solace to the décor.

The best part about the navy-blue tone is that it works seamlessly with metallic accents like rose gold and brass. Trends from the 1960s such as metallic interiors are back in trend for all the right reasons. Hints of premium gold laminates with dark wood floors and deep blue as a backdrop is an excellent way to be subtle yet jazzy at the same time. With such fearless tones, it's best to let the interiors talk and keep the accessories minimal. One can include mid-century modern furniture that goes beautifully with these futuristic tints.

NEUTRALS AND MONOCHROMES

As they say, there is something in store for everyone. For the ones who prefer sophisticated and minimalistic décor, a monochromatic theme will turn out to be an incredible option. Since most of the décor remains subtle, one can truly experiment with the accessories. If styled properly, the room would look nothing short of a remarkable spectacle.

For starters, one can put their palette together for an elegant and modern appeal. To top it all, simply switch accent hues and instantly alter the aura of the room. It is still important to pick neutrals that are not mundane and dreary. Use accents of dull gold in the form of frames for your mirror or drawer knobs. The many shades of blacks and whites paired with neutral floors allows one to easily switch between hot and trending to sober and stylish.

This autumn, in an all-white interior one can make this trend work by using small blocks of colour throughout the house. Deep black tints in the form of a contemporary piece of art or a rich black laminate seating area are some of the many ways you can master this vogue.

PLEASING PASTELS AND FLORALS

When it comes to adding drama, and maintaining a definite serenity in the house, pastels should be a go to palette. These colours are candy to the eyes and are effortless to apply to one's home. For those who love subtle colours, going for a statement centre table in premium marble finished veneers paired with a pastel pink couch will surely tie the look together. Instead of a whole wall, one can always opt for painting just a single wall or a divider and pair it with black furniture and abstract art to enjoy a touch of finesse. Besides the usual auburn and rusty tones, dusty and old-fashioned pinks are all ablaze this autumn season. Also, florals will be seen in a new light and if added to the décor, a statement rich indigo laminate contrasting with a floral art piece in white or pink could be the answer! One can also decorate with flowers and match them with cushions and cover with a dull pink top sheet to complete the look!

Dark engineered wood floors always add a certain sophistication and at the same time stabilise the whole décor of the room. Pair it with magnificent brass side tables to make the room look a little more diverse and alluring. With autumn, it's all about adding some drama but also maintaining a definite serenity in the house. ▲
